"Silk City Flick Fest" - October 8-11th - Connecticut! posted: September 28, 2009, 10:38 AM

Cool Hand Pictures and the Sawicki Agency will be hosting the first annual Silk City Flick Fest in historic downtown Manchester, Connecticut from Thursday, October 8th – Sunday, October 11th, 2009.

The SCFF will showcase and celebrate the best Connecticut independent films and films from around the world, that express originality and the unique view for which independent films are famous for.

The Festival is open to all students and independent filmmakers worldwide. Think of it as an escape to the quaintest New England town highlighting the Autumn beauty with indie movies, shorts, documentaries, parties and panel discussions throughout the four day weekend.

Why did we choose Manchester for the Silk City Flick Fest?

The city slogan says it all “The City with Village Charm” - Manchester has an abundance of natural beauty set against a backdrop of a diverse history.

Silk city comes from The Cheney Brothers who settled in south Manchester in 1838. They became world famous for premium quality silk thread and fabrics – as well as for the invention of innovative silk processing techniques.

Through great generosity from the Cheney family, Manchester has become the benefactor of the Cheney lands and has preserved them for the town.

They plan on showcasing Manchester’s history by hosting all events at Cheney Hall and Manchester Community College. They also plan on conducting customized historical walks throughout downtown Manchester and the Cheney Historical District.
